Aims and Scope

The editorial board and the founder of the international Research Journal Investment Management & Financial Innovations invite the collaboration of authors and experts in the fields of investment management, finances and financial innovations.

The main objective of the publication is the exposure of problems in investment management and financial innovations and finding the solutions of their improvement with the further dissemination of research results, by enabling both renowned and emerging researchers and scholars to present their findings to a global audience of peers.

The participation of the well-known experts from a dozen or more countries of the world in the editorial board is a guarantee of the successful formation of the publication's transnational spirit, a contribution to the development of management research on the international scale.

The journal will be published quarterly (four times a year).

The language of the journal is English.

The journal is devoted to the problems and perspectives of investment management of firms, companies, and organization with different forms of ownership.

The journal is aimed at researchers, scholars, lecturers, students in institutions of higher education, and practitioners alike.

The editorial board will pursue a transparent policy in its relations with readers and contributors. It board will welcome proposals concerning the journal's development.

Submission Process

Once a submission is made the Editor will reply with an electronic message that acknowledges the receipt of the manuscript. This electronic message also indicates the manuscript number assigned to it. This number should be cited in all future correspondence.

The editor will inform an author about the expected volume and issue of the journal where the paper could be published. This lets the authors feel comfortable regarding the reporting to their universities and plan their research activity effectively. We do it within three days after the paper submission.

All the papers are published in English. In the case of submission to "Problems & Perspectives in Management" and "Banks and Bank Systems" journals, the papers are also published in Ukrainian.
